SECTION 1

Your body, spirit, soul and eternal life.

Things are not as they seem, not as you've been told for much of your life. Knowledge and science have advanced exponentially over your lifetime, but you may still believe the same things about God, life and death with not so much as an adjustment. The following is all about you, your body, your spirit and your soul, and about your earthly and eternal life.

First, I should tell you briefly who I am, but let me start by saying who I am not. I am not a degreed theologian nor a degreed scientist. I have had, on the other hand, a successful 50-year career as a product research engineer, and I am still so engaged. I am currently President and CEO of a company with technology involving the early-detection of infections in humans. For the past 30 years I have also spent much time trying to understand God and the tripartite<sup>1</sup> human, that is, the human body, spirit and soul. I now have some answers which I want to share with you.

Change

At the risk of sounding arrogant, the answers I have uncovered may change biology as currently understood and therefore they may also change medicine as currently practiced. Perhaps they will even change some aspects of the theory behind quantum mechanics. The answers may also change your understanding of Christianity as you have been taught. I am hoping this new information will give you a better understanding of God, life, death and the promise of eternal life.

I am also hoping that it will change what I call Christian rhetoric which has caused many, especially those with a scientific background, to lose interest. Christian rhetoric also confuses those seeking to join a Christian community, and Christian rhetoric fails to lead believers toward a stronger, well founded experience with God. For example, and this may shock you, it makes no sense to say when the remains of an individual are being interred, "May his/her soul rest in peace." I have even heard one pastor answer the question, "What happens when I die?" with "Your soul goes to heaven and you pass away." "Pass away where?" was the next question. You will learn also, that it makes no sense for people to worry about saving their souls, when in fact, it is impossible for humans to lose them. No one is after your soul. They cannot take it from you. It is part of you and it will be with you for all eternity (Your soul does not require salvation. I'll explain later why).

Faith vs Science

You have often heard that science and religious faith conflict with one another. Christians believe that science and faith cannot not be in conflict because God created both, and we are correct. I have discovered it goes further than that. Science and religion cannot be separated. They are, in fact, inextricable. And so, as I discuss with you what I have learned about God, your body, spirit and soul, I must also discuss the New Science behind what I have learned. Please stay with me through the technical parts.

Is the gospel still true? Absolutely. Nothing I tell you will conflict with the Bible and nothing will conflict with the words of Jesus. I did not learn these new truths on my own. I had the guidance of the Counselor, the Holy Spirit. The Counselor has helped me many times in my research engineering career when I could not solve a difficult technical problem in front of me. There are 30 patents now carrying my name as inventor. At least two, maybe more, should also include the name of the Holy Spirit. I will now give you a relevant example of how the Counselor helped me as I start my discussion of the Theory behind the New Science.

Search for a basic understanding

I knew from the beginning of my study, while I was developing the Theory, that I did not have a very basic understanding of the primary factors. As a research engineer, that made me very uncomfortable. I knew there were two states of existence, the state in which you and I currently exist in which we are limited by time; and another state in which God exists, not limited by time. We had a beginning. God just is. However, there seemed to be, based on Christian beliefs, another state in between the state in which God exists and the state in which we exist, a "spiritual state." But, what are the characteristics and limitations of the spiritual state? Nowhere have I been able to find and read a clear explanation. So, I asked the Counselor, "Just what is the spiritual state?"

Sequence

One night I was driving home from an engineering consulting assignment, quite dead tired, able to think of nothing but relaxing at home with my wife, Kim. I came to a stop light where the road I was on ended at a highway. I can still see in my mind the red light I was watching when the Counselor, quite suddenly, gave me the answer to my question. We, in a state I now call the Temporal State, are not just limited by time. We are also limited by the sequence of events. That had never occurred to me. God cannot be limited by time nor the sequence of events. There are no limitations in God. There is a third state, the Counselor made clear to me, which I now call the Sequential State. Beings in the Sequential State are limited only by sequence, not by time. I drove home and told Kim what I had learned. She said I should write it down. I told her I would, but I didn't have to. I will never forget the moment I was told this new truth. It changed everything.

Temporal and Sequential States

What does it mean for us in the Temporal State to be limited by time and sequence? Think of it all this way; you must open a closed door before you enter a room. You must start a car before you drive it. You must pick up a ball before you throw it. And, it takes time to open a door, start a car and pick up a ball. All this sounds obvious, I know. Well, nonetheless, that describes the Temporal State. If you could function in the spiritual, Sequential State, it would take no time for you to open a closed door and enter a room; it would take no time to start a car and be driving it, and it would take no time to pick up a ball and throw it. However, in the Sequential State, you must still open a closed door before you enter a room, you must still start a car before you drive it and you must still pick up a ball before you throw it. There, you see, is the limitation of sequence. Now, it is hard to imagine taking no time to do things; but, and here is some shocking news, two major parts of you are actually in the Sequential State.

Concurrent State

To stretch your imagination even further, consider the Concurrent State, a state in which only the Creator exists, unlimited by time and unlimited by sequence. Jesus, who is God, gave us a perfect example of this when He said, "Before Abraham came to be, I am,"<sup>2</sup> yet He was born of the virgin Mary just 30 years before. And, according to the Gospel of the Apostle John, Jesus existed before the cosmos came into being, which He Himself created.

So, let me review this foundational part of the theory behind the New Science:

There are three states of existence:

1. The Temporal State in which beings are limited by time and sequence,
2. The Sequential State in which beings are limited only by sequence, and
3. The Concurrent State in which God is not limited by time nor Sequence

Now, you may ask, what are the two parts of you that are actually in the Sequential State? You will not be surprised by the answer; your spirit and your soul are in the Sequential State. Unfortunately, the terms spirit and soul are two of the most confused terms within Christian rhetoric. First, they are used interchangeably. Second, they are never defined clearly. Here are some "definitions," taken in part from Strong's Concordance:

Current Definition of Soul

In Greek, psuché (soul) is a feminine noun meaning, breath, i.e. (by implication) spirit, abstractly or concretely distinguished, on the one hand, from the rational and immortal soul; and on the other from mere vitality. In Hebrew, nephesh (soul) means a breathing creature, vitality, appetite, beast, body, breath, desire, fish, ghost, man, me, mind, mortally, one, person, themselves, tablet, they, thing, etc.

Current Definition of Spirit

In Greek, pneûma (spirit) means a current of air, i.e. breath (blast) or a breeze; by analogy or figuratively, a spirit, i.e. the rational soul, a vital principle, mental disposition, etc., or an angel, demon, or God, Christ's spirit, the Holy Spirit, ghost, life, spirituality, mind, etc. In Hebrew, ruwach (spirit) means wind, breath, exhalation, life, anger, unsubstantiality, by resemblance spirit, but only of a rational being (including its expressions and functions): air, anger, blast, breath, courage, mind, spiritual, tempest etc.

Do I have the above definitions correct? There is no way for me to know. In the Greek (used in the New Testament) psuché (soul) "(by implication) spirit, is also distinguished from the rational and immortal soul" and pneûma (spirit) means "a spirit, i.e. the rational soul." Even in the Greek definitions the meanings appear to be reversed and/or confused. The Theory I am presenting clearly defines the words spirit and soul when used in the New Science the Theory represents.

The Atemporal Particle Theory [In scientific terms]
Coincident with every human, living, corporeal cell is an incorporeal cell, and at the functional center of this coexistence is an atemporal Particle, which directs all functions of the cells, stores all memory and co-generates consciousness.

The Atemporal Particle Theory [In Christian terms]
Coincident<sup>3</sup> with every human, living, physical cell is an eternal spiritual cell, and at the functional center of this coexistence<sup>4</sup> is the human soul, which directs all functions of the cells, stores all memory and co-generates consciousness (new definition of "Soul").

Composed of billions of these coexisting cells, you are a physical body and a spiritual body, both with one Soul. At this very moment, your physical body in the Temporal State (defining "Body") and your spiritual body in the Sequential State (new definition of "Spirit"), are coincident; they occupy the same space at the same time. Your Body and Spirit are together with every movement you make. They are inseparable, except as I will explain. When you choose to move your Body's arms and legs, your Spirit's arms and legs move with them. If you should lose an arm or a leg from your Body, you may experience the presence of your Spirit's arm or leg. If some part of your Body's brain is damaged (or even removed), your Spirit's brain may function in its place.

Your Soul is at the functional center of every cell in your Body and Spirit. That's possible because your Soul is also in the Sequential State (the "spiritual realm"), it is atemporal (outside of time), has zero mass; and therefore, can be at the functional center of each and every cell of your Body and Spirit simultaneously.

It is your Soul which animates your Body and Spirit. Your Soul directs the biological functions of all your cells through the DNA in the nucleus of your cells. Without your Soul, you would not be alive. Think of it this way, after Jesus created Adam, Body and Spirit, He breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living being.<sup>5</sup> Jesus therewith gave Adam's Body and Spirit the first human Soul, and he became alive.

Your Body's brain is quite slow due to its physical makeup and time limitation. Your Spirit's brain is not limited by time, neither is your Soul. Therefore, communications between your Soul and your Spirit's brain are instantaneous. When you choose to move your Body's arms or legs, your Soul controls the muscle cells directly and with great rapidity by activating the respective motor-neurons. Were it not for your Soul, you could not dance, play the piano or even carry on an extemporaneous<sup>6</sup> conversation. Intuition occurs as a result of the instant communications between your Spirit's brain and your Soul (defining the sub-conscious mind). However, your dominant Body's brain is generally fully occupied by conscious thoughts of its own and often does not recognize the intuitive thoughts of your Spirit's brain.

In some, whose Body's brain is damaged or underdeveloped, their Spirit's brain may function in place of the damaged area; and the individual's mental and physical abilities may far surpass what is considered normal.

Since a cancer cell in the Body often does not recognize proper instructions regarding shape, purpose, color, structure, location or division limits; it can be assumed that instructions between the Soul and the cancer cell have been disrupted in some way at some time.<sup>7</sup> Communications between your Soul and Spirit's cells are always instantaneous and perfect. There are no imperfections, nor disease, in your Spirit.

Conception

At the true moment of your conception, the Souls of both your mother and father united creating a new, unique Soul incorporating the instructions to develop a perfect Likeness<sup>8</sup> of a new and unique Body and Spirit.

<sup>7</sup> It may not be a good idea to hold your cell phone against your brain for extended periods of time.

<sup>8</sup> It was Jesus (God) who said, "Let us make man to our image and likeness." Who else in the Trinity of God do we resemble? If all things

Your Soul, therefore, also has the combined memories of your parents and ancestors.

Your Soul is not you. It is a functional part of you, but it is not you. Your soul will never leave you. You therefore cannot lose your Soul, and so your Soul does not need to be saved. When Jesus said, "And fear ye not them that kill the body, and are not able to kill the psuché, but rather fear him that can destroy both psuché and body in hell," (Mt. 10:28) He said, ". . . fear him that can destroy both Spirit and Body in hell." So, it is you that needs to be saved from hell, not your Soul.

Conception, continued

Concurrently at conception, the coincident Body and Spirit chromosomes from both your mother and father joined to complete the creation of your new, unique, coincident Body and Spirit cells, totipotent zygotes,<sup>9</sup> to be controlled by your Soul. [From that first tripartite cell,<sup>10</sup> you were a human being, loved by Jesus.]

Your Body chromosomes, through which your Soul communicates with your Body's cells, carry imperfections and errors which may have developed ancestrally. Your Body, therefore, is not a perfect Likeness of your Spirit, which has no imperfections. Your Spirit, on the other hand, is just how Jesus wanted you to be.

were made by him, as the apostle John said, of course it was Jesus who said those words.

<sup>9</sup> [Note the plurality, zygotes] Totipotent stem cells are one of the most important stem cells types, because they have the potential to develop into any cell found in the human body. In human development, the egg cell in a woman and the sperm cell from a man fuse together to form a single cell called the zygote.

<sup>10</sup> Made in the image and likeness of Jesus (see Genesis 1:26).

Consciousness

Your Soul is also at the functional center of every one of the billions of neurons throughout your Body. Your Soul is communicating continuously with every cell in your Body and Spirit providing functional instructions. With the cells in your central nervous system (neurons), there are two-way communications. Sensory neurons, such as your retinal neurons, transfer information at random to both of your brains, Body and Spirit. Your cortical neurons in turn communicate this incomprehensible information constantly with your Soul. On a computer screen, it would appear as noise. Your Soul stores and instantly returns the information as pulsed, comprehensible percepts,<sup>11</sup> making consciousness possible. The mind, therefore, is a function of the Soul's interaction with the brain (Body and Spirit).

Memory

It is your Soul that is the repository<sup>12</sup> of all your memories and those of your ancestors, not your brain and no, not your DNA (nor your synapses). Stored in your Soul is the memory of everything you have ever experienced. Memories, when recalled, are returned to the same neuro-network which placed them there in the first place. If the originating cortical neurons in your Brain are in some way damaged, you may not be able to recall a memory fully or at all. On the other hand, your Soul can instantly return to your Body's brain and <sup>11</sup> A mental image or concept that is developed as a consequence of the process.

Spirit's brain memories of events in your distant past, which you can re-experience, limited only by the slow speed of your Body's brain and its current health (i.e., are the same neuro-networks in place and functioning which originally processed the event you wish to recall?<sup>13</sup>).

Death

Yes, you are a Body, Spirit and Soul tripartite<sup>14</sup> human being. Your Spirit does not age past maturity. Your Spirit and Soul are immortal. Therefore, you will not die. Let me repeat that, you will not die. When your Soul cannot communicate with your Body's brain, for whatever reason, you (Spirit and Soul) will leave your Body.<sup>15</sup> You will be able to see and hear what is going on around you, but others will not be able to see or hear you.<sup>16</sup> If the physical cause for your Body's brain to stop communicating with your Soul is reversed, before cellular corruption takes place, you may return to your Body (resuscitation). If it is not, you will find yourself in the presence of the Lord Jesus. When you leave your Body, others may look upon your Body as having died; but you will be alive, conscious, feeling young and well.

After death

Jesus created humans knowing that many would deny His existence and do as they pleased, ignoring His commandments without repentance. This would justly

require their annihilation.<sup>17</sup> Think of it, the “created” denying and disobeying the “Creator.” There is no greater injustice (“Injustice”). Only the Creator could fully resolve the Injustice which would occur. Since humans would cause the Injustice, a human would also have to atone.

Therefore, Jesus knew that only a God/human could resolve and atone for the Injustice that would occur. He would have to become fully human while remaining fully God.<sup>18</sup> He would have to atone for the Injustice by dying a human death. Knowing this, Jesus created humans nonetheless (what amazing love!). He died in our place as a human (atonement) and as God resolved the Injustice once and for all. His death restored all humans, past, present and future, to eternal life, no longer deserving of annihilation (“Redemption”). All of your sins were thereby forgiven. They will not keep you from eternal life in God’s kingdom. They will not keep you from seeing your loved ones again. What will?

Jesus wants your love in return for His amazing love for You. You cannot love someone who you do not believe exists. You cannot love someone who you do not know and trust. You must know, love and trust Jesus with your eternal life. You must believe in Jesus.

And how will your belief in and love for Him be judged? Jesus made that quite clear. He said, “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” While He was on earth, He healed the sick, the lame and the blind. Then He said,

<sup>17</sup> As in, never have existed. See Genesis 2:16-17.

<sup>18</sup> Jesus became a single cell in the Virgin Mary’s womb and was born as all humans are born, with nothing in His memory of His divine nature. Philippians 2:7, “He emptied Himself, taking the form of a slave, coming in human likeness and found in human appearance.”

“Whoever believes in me will do the works I have been doing, and they will do even greater things than these.”

<sup>19</sup> Read what Jesus said to you personally:

Matthew 25:31-46

“When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, he will sit upon his glorious throne, and all the nations will be assembled before him. And he will separate them one from another, as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. He will place the sheep on his right and the goats on his left. Then the king will say to those on his right, ‘Come, you who are blessed by my Father. Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world. For I was hungry, and you gave me food, I was thirsty, and you gave me drink, a stranger and you welcomed me, naked and you clothed me, ill and you cared for me, in prison and you visited me.’ Then the righteous will answer him and say, ‘Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you drink? When did we see you a stranger and welcome you, or naked and clothe you? When did we see you ill or in prison, and visit you?’ And the king will say to them in reply, ‘Amen, I say to you, whatever you did for one of these least brothers of mine, you did for me.’ Then he will say to those on his left, ‘Depart from me, you accursed, into the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels. For I was hungry, and you gave me no food, I was thirsty, and you gave me no drink, a stranger and you gave me no welcome, naked and you gave me no clothing, ill and in prison, and you did not care for me.’ Then they will answer and say, ‘Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or ill or in prison, and not minister to your needs?' He will answer them, 'Amen, I say to you, what you did not do for one of these least ones, you did not do for me.' And these will go off to eternal punishment, but the righteous to eternal life."

("Salvation")

Believe in Jesus, who is God.

Believe He is the Creator of all things.

Believe He created and loves you, unconditionally.

Place your trust in Jesus.

Repent from sinful habits.<sup>20</sup>

Avoid materialism.

Obey Jesus' new commandment: love one another.

"As I have loved you, so you also should love one another." John 13:34

Love those around you as you love yourself.

Share what you have with others.

Feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, take in the stranger, cloth the naked, take care of the sick and visit the imprisoned as each opportunity presents itself. Matthew 25:31-46

Look forward to an eternal life in His kingdom.

SECTION 2

Evidence of the Atemporal Particle Theory

As a research engineer, I learned not to believe anything I hear, see or read. Better stated, I learned to confirm the accuracy of everything I needed to believe. So, where is the evidence for the Atemporal Particle Theory? I will herewith present support for every aspect of the New Science I hope you will come to accept.

The Scientific Method

Normally, it is true, the scientist must consider only observable, empirical<sup>21</sup> and measurable evidence and apply known principles of reasoning to their search for answers to heretofore unanswered questions. But it is a perfectly good scientific method of research to observe a phenomenon (whether it be objective or subjective), form a hypothesis, observe empirical evidence to support the hypothesis and then to form a tentative conclusion to see if with it the unexplained can in fact be explained, doing so with an open mind not encumbered by biases. Let us look at several unexplained phenomena which I believe are surprisingly connected and explained by the Atemporal Particle Theory.

1. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and your Body and Spirit are together with every movement you make . . . and when you choose to move your Body's arms and legs, your Spirit's arms and legs move with them . . . and if you should lose an arm or a leg from your Body, you may experience the presence of your Spirit's arm or leg, then there should be some available evidence.

1. <sup>21</sup> Based on experience rather than theory or pure logic.

Consider this:

The phantom limb phenomena

Approximately 60% to 80% of individuals, with an amputation, experience sensations in their missing limbs. To many amputees, phantom limbs seem to move as if they were still there. "That's due to the brain's memory of the lost limb," some scientists say; but a 16-year old, with congenital absence of the left arm below the elbow, received a minor injury to the stump of her upper arm and subsequently developed a full-length phantom arm, hand and fingers; reported as Case 1 in a medical publication.<sup>22</sup> Therefore, memory could not be the cause of the phantom limb, since there was, in her case, no memory of the missing limb.

Case 4, in the same publication referenced above, a woman, now age 31, was born with a shortened and deformed right leg and underwent amputation of the foot and deformed part of the leg at age 3. Beginning at age 6, she developed a full-length phantom leg and foot which touched the floor.

If a Body's limb is removed, the Spirit's limb will still be there and often be experienced, which explains the phantom-limb phenomena.

<sup>22</sup> Phantom Limb Experiences in Congenital Limb-Deficient Adults by Dr. Ronald Melzack, Department of Psychology, McGill University.

2. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if some part of your Body's brain is damaged (or even removed), and if your Spirit's brain may function in its place, then there should be some evidence of that.

Consider this:

A. Dr. Ben Carson removed the entire left brain of a child named Miranda to stop her seizures which were life threatening. Here's his report: "Dr. Neville (Knuckey) and I, and the rest of our team, knew we had successfully removed the left hemisphere of Maranda's brain. We didn't know if the seizures would stop. We didn't know if Maranda would ever walk or talk again. We could only do one thing - wait and see. The (parents), alert to every sound, heard the gurney creaking down the hallway and ran to meet us.

"Wait!" (her mother) called softly. She went to the gurney bent down, and kissed her daughter. Maranda's eyes fluttered open for a second. "I love you, Mommy and Daddy," she said. I just stood there, amazed and excited, as I silently shared in that incredible moment. We had hoped for recovery, but none of us had considered that she could be so alert so quickly. Maranda had opened her eyes. She recognized her parents. She was talking, hearing, thinking, responding. We had removed the left half of her brain, the dominant part that controls the speech area. Yet Maranda was talking! She was a little restless, uncomfortable on the narrow gurney, and stretched her right leg, moved her right arm - the side controlled by the half of her brain we had removed!" "Gifted Hands," 20th Anniversary Edition: The Ben Carson Story [Kindle Edition] published in 2011.

The corresponding section of Maranda's Spirit brain is functioning in place of the missing section of the Body's brain.

B. Dr. Allan Snyder, head of the Centre for the Mind at the University of Sydney, uses transcranial magnetic stimulation to temporarily shut down the left hemisphere of the brain, where speech and short-term memory are supported, inducing surprising savant-like skills in healthy people.

"To test the suggestion that normal individuals have the capacity for savant numerosity, we temporarily simulated the savant condition in normal people by inhibiting the left anterior temporal lobe of twelve participants with repetitive transcranial magnetic stimulation (rTMS). This site has been implicated in the savant condition. Ten participants improved their ability to accurately guess the number of discrete items immediately following rTMS and, of these, eight became worse at guessing as the effects of the pulses receded. The probability of as many as eight out of twelve people doing best just after rTMS and not after sham stimulation by chance alone is less than one in one thousand."<sup>23</sup>

C. It also happens through disease. Dr. Bruce Miller, Professor of Neurology at the University of California, has seen patients with frontotemporal dementia, spontaneously develop both interest and skill in art and music. Dr. Miller has also seen physiological similarities in the brains of autistic savants. The Spirit brain supplements the diseased section.

3. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if it is your Soul which animates your Body and Spirit, and it is your Soul which directs the biological functions of all your cells through the DNA in the nucleus of your cells; then scientists must be aware of the need for a heretofore unknown source of information within each cell.

Consider reading:

Wetware, A computer in every living cell by Dennis Bray, a scientist who believes the components of every cell form a micro-computer within each cell which has been programmed by . . . evolution. Bray recognizes the need for a source of information, but his answer is ridiculous.

In the beginning was information by Dr. Werner Gitt., a scientist (who) explains the incredible design in nature. Dr. Gitt is a Christian. His book is very technical, but a worthwhile read.

4. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if when you choose to move your Body's arms or legs, your Soul controls the muscle cells directly and with great rapidity, then scientists must agree the Body's brain is too slow and your memory (in your soul) must be involved in every movement.

Consider reading:

On Intelligence by Jeff Hawkins, who invented the first hand-held computer. Hawkins teaches, "A human can (recognize an image) in half a second or less. But neurons are slow, so in that half second, the information entering your brain can only traverse a chain (of neurons) one hundred neurons long." As an answer to this problem, Hawkins says, "The brain doesn't compute the answers to problems (such as muscle movements); it retrieves the answers from memory," stored in the cortex which is, he says, "about 2 millimeters thick, stretched flat, roughly the size of a large dinner napkin." He finds this to be amazing. Jeff Hawkins is an atheist.

Hawkins is right when he says, "The brain doesn't compute the answers to problems; it retrieves the answers from memory," but while he says neurons are too slow to compute the answers to problems, he apparently believes they are fast enough to retrieve the needed information from memory stored in the cortex – which is made up of neurons! The Soul, on the other hand, can return information instantly.

5. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if in some, whose Body's brain is damaged or underdeveloped, their Spirit's brain functions in place of the damaged area and the individual's mental and physical abilities may far surpass what is considered normal; then there should be much evidence of this.

Consider:

The abilities of autistic savants.

The physical brain cannot possibly perform the remarkable abilities of autistic savants which have been documented thousands of times, going back to 1887 when the condition was first described, with its first mention in scientific literature as early as 1789. The Body's brain is simply too slow.

Communications between the neurons of the Body's cells and the Soul are slowed by the physical limitations of the Body's brain especially as the Body ages. On the other hand, communications between the neurons of the Spirit's brain and Soul are not slowed by any physical limitations. If a part of the Body's brain is diseased, undeveloped or removed, the neurons of the Spirit's brain may function in its place; and the results may be far in excess of what would be considered normal.

This is true for savants whose Body's brains were damaged or never developed properly. Stephen Wiltshire, for example, was autistic and mute when he started drawing. His extraordinary abilities include drawing extremely accurate panoramic pictures of landscapes after seeing them for a short time during a helicopter ride. His Spirit's brain, functioning in place of the undeveloped portion of his Body's brain, has no trouble recalling everything he has seen in great detail.

Leslie Lemke has severe birth defects. He had to be force fed to learn how to swallow, and only very gradually learned to walk. Suddenly at age 16 he was found playing Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto, which he heard once on television, with no previous musical training. His Spirit's brain, functioning in place of the undeveloped portion of his Body's brain, is able to recall fully and accurately everything he has heard.

The same is true for this savant. After a head injury, Alonzo Clemons, has had severe difficulties in functioning, unable to feed himself, but he can accurately sculpt in three dimensions anything he briefly sees once.

Born prematurely, Derek remained in the hospital for three months and technically "died" several times before he was finally strong enough to go home. Left blind and with severe cognitive impairment, he taught himself to play the piano; and he can perform any music upon hearing it once. His Spirit's brain, functioning in place of the undeveloped portion of his Body's brain, has no difficulty recalling everything he has heard with remarkable accuracy.

Dr. Oliver Wolf Sacks, a British neurologist, describes his experience with twins known as John and Michael. "I first met the twins in 1966 in a state hospital, they were already well known.

My own first sight of the 'natural' powers, and 'natural' mode of the twins, came in a similar, spontaneous, and (I could not help feeling) rather comic manner. A box of matches on their table fell, and discharged its contents on the floor: '111,' they both cried simultaneously; and then, in a murmur, John said '37'. Michael repeated this, John said it a third time and stopped.<sup>24</sup> I counted the matches - it took me some time - and there were 111." Their Spirit brains, functioning in place of the undeveloped portion of their Body brains saw and instantly counted all the matches.

Savant-like abilities occur rarely in relatively normal people. Television star Marilu Henner is one of a half-dozen known individuals with highly-superior, auto-biographical memory, medically called Hyperthymesia Syndrome. She can recall in detail every event which happened in her life including the date and day of the week on which it happened. She appears able to recall memories from her Soul through the use of her Spirit brain.

6. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if it is your Soul which is the repository of all your memories and those of your ancestors, not your brain and no, not your DNA . . . and if memories are returned to the same neuro-network which placed them there in the first place and if the originating cortical neurons in your Body's brain are in some way damaged, you may not be able to recall a memory fully or at all, then scientists must have made related discoveries.

Consider:

David Glanzman, a senior author of the study, and a UCLA professor of integrative biology and physiology and of neurobiology states:

"Long-term memory is not stored at the synapse," Glanzman said in a press release. "That's a radical idea, but that's where the evidence leads. The nervous system appears to be able to regenerate lost synaptic connections. If you can restore the synaptic connections, the memory will come back."

In other words, the new synaptic connection cannot possibly store the previous memory.

Neurosurgeon, Michael Egnor states: "To assert that memories are stored in the brain is gibberish. And don't fall for the materialist invocation of promissory materialism — 'It's just a limitation of our current scientific knowledge, and we promise that science will solve the problem in due time.' The assertion that the brain stores memories is logical nonsense that doesn't even rise to the level of empirical testability."

Thought Experiment

Here's a related thought experiment you can try right now. Do you remember playing on a freshly cut lawn? Did you ever run your hand over the top of the grass? Remember the feeling you got on the palm of your hand? Extend out your arm right now with the palm of your hand facing down. Move it back and forth and think about how it felt when you touched the grass. Can you feel the blades of grass touching your palm? Most can.

7. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if when your Soul cannot communicate with your Body's brain, for whatever reason, you (Spirit and Soul) will leave your Body . . . you will be able to see and hear what is going on around you, but others will not be able to see or hear you, then those who have medically died and returned to life will have experienced this.

Consider:

Pam Reynolds

Dr. Michael Sabom, a cardiologist, documented over 50 near-death-experiences (NDEs). This is one of them. It is the near-death experience of a woman named Pam Reynolds. She underwent a rare operation to remove a giant aneurysm in her brain that threatened her life. The operation required that Pam's body temperature be lowered to 60 degrees, her heartbeat and breathing stopped and the blood drained from her head. She was clinically quite dead. During that time, she had an out-of-body experience which was later verified to be true. Here is her story:

"I remember seeing several things in the operating room when I was looking down (from above the operating table). The saw (the surgeon was using) looked like an electric toothbrush. And the saw had interchangeable blades too, but these blades were in what looked like a socket wrench case.

Someone said something about my veins and arteries being very small. I believe it was a female voice (speaking) and that it was Dr. Murray, the cardiologist. I remember thinking that I should have told her about that.

There was a sensation like being pulled, but not against (my) will. I was going on my own accord, because I wanted to go. It was like being taken up in a tornado vortex, only you're not spinning around. At the end there was this little tiny pinpoint of light that kept getting bigger and bigger. The light was incredibly bright. I noticed that as I began to discern different figures in the light, they began to form shapes I could recognize and understand.

I could see that one of them was my grandmother. Everyone I saw, looking back on it, fit perfectly into my understanding of what that person looked like at their best during their lives. I recognized a lot of people. My uncle Gene was there; so was my great-great aunt Maggie. On (my father's) side of the family, my grandfather was there. They were specifically taking care of me, looking after me. They would not permit me to go further.

It was communicated to me that if I went all the way into the light, something would happen to me corporeally. They would be unable to put this me back into the body me. I wanted to go into the light, but I also wanted to come back. I had children to be reared.

My uncle . . . took me back through the end of the tunnel. Everything was fine. I did want to go. But then I got to the end of (the tunnel) and saw the thing, my body. I didn't want to get into it. It looked like what it was, dead. It scared me and I didn't want to look at it. I felt a definite repelling and at the same time pulling from the body. The body was pulling, and the tunnel was pushing. It was like diving into a pool of ice water . . . It hurt.

When I came back (into my body), they were playing 'Hotel California' (in the operating room) and the line was, 'You can check out anytime, but you can never leave.' When I regained consciousness, I mentioned to Dr. Brown that (playing that song) was incredibly insensitive.

8. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if your Soul also remains with your Body's cells until cellular corruption occurs, then there should be evidence of this.

Consider:

The transfer of memories from a donor to a heart recipient

Dr. Paul Pearsall, PhD, author of The Heart's Code, has recorded 50 cases in which the recipient of a transplanted heart also received some of the memories (from the Soul) of the donor.

Dr. Pearsall's book includes one case where an eight-year old girl received the heart of a murdered child. She was able to describe the killer, the weapon, the place, the clothes he wore and what the little girl had said to him. Everything was accurate, and the killer was convicted.

9. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if your Soul is also at the functional center of every one of the billions of neurons throughout your Body . . . and with neurons, there are two-way communications, then Francis Crick's "binding Problem" is solved by the Atemporal Particle Theory.

The "Binding Problem," which obsessed Dr. Francis Crick, is defined by him in his book, The Astonishing Hypothesis, as the problem of how (a set of) neurons temporarily become active as a unit. He says, "As an object seen is often also heard, smelled or felt, this binding must also occur across sensory modalities. Our experience of perceptual unity suggests that the brain in some way binds together, in a mutually coherent way, all those neurons actively responding to different aspects of a perceived object."

Since the Soul is at the functional center of every neuron, and since the Soul is processing all of the information sent to your brains, it is the Soul which communicates ("binds") the information with "all those neurons actively responding to different aspects of a perceived object."

10. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if your Soul stores and instantly returns the information as pulsed, comprehensible percepts, making consciousness possible, then the Theory should offer a plausible explanation of how consciousness occurs.

Consider the following:

Consciousness

There is, perhaps, no central human experience more discussed and misunderstood than the experience of consciousness. Here are excerpts from an article on the Internet regarding consciousness.

“Explaining the nature of consciousness is one of the most important and perplexing areas of philosophy, but the concept is notoriously ambiguous. For instance, how is the conscious mental state related to the body? Can consciousness be explained in terms of brain activity? What makes a mental state be a conscious mental state? The problem of consciousness is arguably the most central issue in current philosophy of the mind and is also importantly related to major traditional topics in metaphysics, such as the possibility of immortality and the belief in free will.”<sup>25</sup> with every cell. With the cells in the central nervous system (neurons), there are two-way communications.

Sensory neurons, such as retinal neurons, transfer information at random to the Body's brain and Spirit's brain. Cortical neurons in turn communicate this incomprehensible information continuously with the Soul. On a computer screen, it would appear as noise.

The Soul stores and instantly returns the information received as pulsed, comprehensible percepts, making consciousness possible.

11. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if Intuition occurs as a result of the instant communications between your Spirit's brain and your Soul (defining the sub-conscious mind), then others should realize that intuition is a "spiritual" function.

Consider the following:

Intuition

"Intuitive knowing has been behind almost every human activity in which the acquisition of new knowledge and understanding play a significant part. Intuition is man's communication link between his inner and outer minds. It bridges this ever-present gap. For many centuries before this present scientific era, intuitive knowledge was recognized and accepted by many thinkers, who speculated upon its source. Where does (intuitive) knowledge come from? Every major religion and philosophy has its own obscure term for it. These names are convenient, but they are not informative, for they do not tell us what or where is the source, except something invisible and vague outside of ordinary waking consciousness. Whatever it might be, it is certainly too large and long lasting to fit into a finite brain, and must therefore be abstract—i.e., non-physical— yet occasionally accessible to an inquiring mind."<sup>26</sup>

12. If the Atemporal Particle Theory is true . . .

and if when you leave your Body you will be able to see and hear what is going on around you . . . and calling out to someone who has left their Body may aid in resuscitation, are there any examples?

Consider this story:

Surgeon Bernie Siegel gives this account in his book, Love, Medicine and Miracles: "Once, as I finished a difficult emergency abdominal operation on a young, very obese man, his heart stopped just as we were about to remove him to the recovery room. He didn't respond to resuscitation. The anesthesiologist had given up and was walking out the door when I spoke out loud into the room, 'Harry, it's not your time. Come on back.' At once the cardiogram began to show electrical activity, and the man ultimately recovered fully. I can't prove it, of course, but I'm sure the verbal message made the difference. I know the experience made believers out of the other staff members who were present."

SECTION 3

Soul, Body brain communications

Now this gets a little more technical. You are probably already aware that the human body uses electricity to function. Your heart muscle, for example, receives electrical pulses causing it to beat (contract) regularly. You may not know, unless you have taken a course in biology, that the neurons of your brain also operate electrically, sending electro-chemical signals to other neurons and to the muscles of your body. It is your Soul which causes your neurons to do so. When you decide to move a muscle, for example, this information is passed from your brain to your Soul which responds instantly by causing a very-high frequency electrical field to be generated intraneuronal (inside of your respective motor neurons). The neurons “fire” and the resulting electrical pulses travel to your muscles causing them to contract. As stated earlier, if it were not for your Soul, in the Sequential State with no time limitation, you could not dance, play the piano or even carry on a conversation.

Communications from God

I began this presentation by telling you how the Counselor, the Holy Spirit, gave me technical help during engineering assignments; and, more importantly, how the Counselor gave me the missing piece to the Atemporal Particle Theory which I was starting to develop. The Counselor can place messages and information directly into your Soul addressed for the appropriate neural-network. These messages and information are instantly transferred and received by your Spirit’s brain and immediately by your Body’s brain.

However, your dominant Body's brain is generally fully occupied by conscious thoughts and does not normally anticipate communications from God. This also tends to confuse the messages or information when received by your Body's brain.

Meditation may help shift brain dominance from your Body's brain to your Spirit's Brain for clear and instant communications with the Holy Spirit who is always present with believers (or as a pastor friend once said, "That's being led by the Spirit").

Jesus, who is alive in every sense of the word with Body and Spirit, can enter the very neurons of your Body's brain through the blood stream, which can be accomplished by means of the miracle of Communion. As a result, Jesus' Spirit can truly be with you, just as He promised. "He who eats My flesh and drinks My blood abides in Me, and I in him (John 6:56). Due to the physical nature of the human Body, Communion should be received often.

Listen and watch for your communications from Jesus, Father God and from the Holy Spirit. They speak to all of us frequently. They want to hear from you.

Summary

Here are the key points of the New Science:

1. Your Body is in the Temporal State, limited by time and Sequence.
2. Your Spirit and Soul are in the Sequential State limited only by Sequence.
3. God is in the Concurrent State, unlimited by time and Sequence.

4. You have an eternal Spirit, coincident with your Body, occupying the same space.
5. Your Spirit is a perfect likeness of who you are with no imperfections nor illness.
6. Your eternal Spirit does not age past maturity, and it is incorruptible.
7. Your Soul is not you, it is just a component part of both your Spirit and Body.
8. Your Soul is at the functional center of every cell in your Spirit and Body.
9. Your Soul directs the functions of every cell through the DNA in your cells.
10. Your Soul is the repository of all memory.
11. Your Soul is the combined Souls (memories and cellular instructions) of your parents.
12. Your Soul is in constant communications with your Spirit and Body.
13. You are conscious due to the communications between your Soul and Body and Spirit brains.
14. If your Body and Soul cease to communicate, you will separate from your Body.
15. If you separate from your Body, you will be conscious and feel young and well.
16. Your Spirit and Soul will continue to communicate perfectly after separation.
17. Your Soul remains also with your Body, until corruption of your Body's cells takes place.
18. If corruption of your Body's cells has not taken place, you may be able to return to your Body, willingly or through resuscitation.
19. If you cannot return to your Body, you will ascend to the presence of Jesus, God.
20. You will not die. John 11:25
